Day spa up for two awards

CARINE Day Spa Keturah has been nominated for two awards at the Australian Beauty Industry Awards.

Keturah is in the running to take home the awards for Best Day Spa and Best Marketing at the prestigious event, which will take place on Monday, August 26 at the Parkside Ballroom, Sydney Convention and Exhibition Centre.

This is the second year running that Keturah has been nominated for Best Day Spa and Best Marketing at the ABIA Awards, having been triumphant in both categories last year.

Keturah Day Spa Group Director Kim Stergiou said the business could not have claimed the honour if it were not for the hard work of their therapists.

“We are delighted and grateful to be nominated again this year for two such significant categories,” he said.

“This achievement is a tribute to all of our talented therapists, so it would be fantastic to take home the awards for the second time.”

The salon was chosen as a finalist for both categories by a panel of 21 industry judges, including beauty industry, business, media and PR experts, who considered over 150 entries from all over Australia.
